EASTERN GRIDIRON CLOSES TODAY

Army-Navy Game Promises to be a Hard Fought Battle— Betting Favors Cadets, 5 to 4—President Wilson Will Attend the Contest.

New York, Nov. 26.—The football eleven of the United States military and naval academies will close the eastern gridiron season with their annual contest here tomorrow afternoon. Indications point to a hard-fought game under poor weather conditions.

Rain Would Benefit Army.

The weather forecast calls for rain, accompanied by warm southerly winds which, if eventuated, will cause the game to be played on a slow and slippery gridiron. Such conditions are thought to be advantageous to the army, with its heavier eleven and line plunging tactics.

Enthusiasm Not Checked.

The possibility of unpleasant weather has failed to check the enthusiasm of the thousands of Army and Navy officers, government officials, midshipmen and cadets who are gathering here for the contest. A majority of the leading hotels are filled tonight with the representatives of the two branches of the service, but the main contingent of out of town spectators will follow the example of President Wilson and arrive tomorrow morning for luncheon before going to the game.

President Wilson Will Occupy Box.

The nation's executive, who will be accompanied by a large party, will occupy a special box in the grandstand of the field for the first half of the game, crossing the gridiron to the Army section for the final two periods. The president will thus lend his presence and support to both academies.

Betting Favors Cadets, 5 to 4.

The general adherents of the two teams have not shown the same neutral attitude and as a result there has been considerable wagering. Early betting favored the cadets at odds of 5 to 4, but the team line up on water-soaked field the soldiers may be quoted at 10 to 7 or possibly 5 to 3. Both Teams Practiced on Polo Grounds.

Both the West Point and Annapolis squads visited the Polo grounds at separate hours today for secret practice and signal drills.

During the early evening they remained in seclusion in their respective hotels, where a final talk of the coaches preceded the nine o'clock order of "all lights out." The coaches said there would be no changes in the announced lineup unless unforeseen circumstances developed. All the men selected to open the match are reported to be in fine physical condition and on edge for a hard, fast contest.

The Probable Lineup.

The probable lineup and the officials of the game follow:

BIG THREE WILL DISCUSS ELIGIBILITY RULES

A Meeting Will Be Held on December 3 and 4 in New York.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 26.—Professor Robert N. Corwin, chairman of the executive committee of the Yale Athletic Association, announced tonight that a joint meeting between representatives of Harvard, Princeton and Yale will be held at the Yale club in New York on December 3 and 4, to discuss the question of athletic eligibility rules of the three universities.

"Summer baseball is only one of the questions to be brought forward," President Corwin says. "The whole matter of professionalism or semi-professionalism must be more clearly defined. Likewise, rules and definitions must be established which shall eliminate from sport practices and performers which have no place in college activities."

The approaching meetings will be in a certain sense the culmination of the Yale baseball team, including Captain Milburn.
